

R.I.P. Oscar Peterson

One of jazz music's piano giants passed yesterday. In a music world where memory, technique, rhythm, composition and feeling have to all meet at one Oscar Peterson was one of the best. His command of the piano reaches back into his heyday of '40's and '50's and reaches forward into the piano-man tactics of John Legend.