

Bobby Brown And Sisqo Go Country

‘Country music didn’t buy that one,” Bobby Brown jokes, after you admire a diamond ring he’s wearing. “Country music gonna buy the next two.”

Actually, he may not be kidding.

Brown is one of the seven artists competing on CMT’s new reality show, Gone Country, (Fridays at 8 p.m., starting Jan. 25). For two weeks last October, he “ along with Carnie Wilson, Twisted Sister’s Dee Snider, American Idol’s Diana DeGarmo, SisqÃ³, Julio Iglesias Jr., and The Brady Bunch’s Maureen McCormick “ lived together in the 28,000-square-foot log cabin outside of Nashville known as the Plowboy Mansion.
