

Earthdance 2008

San Francisco, California – August 19, 2008 The 12th anniversary Earthdance Festival will take place at the renowned Black Oak Ranch, a property rich in native history and old growth oak trees. For 2008, Earthdance Northern California will unite with over 250 locations in 50 countries across the world to create the most conscious global festival of our time.

The Earthdance Northern California Festival will bring together an unprecedented line-up of conscious musicians, visual artists, DJ's, speakers and activists, who believe in a sustainable future for our planet. Working with the theme of "unity in diversity", the festival will host 5 music stages and will feature high profile conscious artists from many genres of the international music scene, including World, Electronica, Hip Hop, Folk and Jazz. One of this year's highlights will be an indigenous elder's council, made up of indigenous elders from many nations, who will share wisdom and sacred ceremony.
