

Miguel Atwood-Ferguson Ensemble "Someday We'll All Be Free" feat Bilal

[vimeo]14019220[/vimeo]

On July 23rd, 2010 the city of Los Angeles was blessed with a FREE concert of the Miguel Atwood-Ferguson ensemble. For this special evening, Miguel assembled an all-star cast of musicians and special guests including Flying Lotus, Aloe Blacc, Chris 'Daddy' Dave, Stephen 'Thundercat' Bruner and Bilal. Miguel has gained recognition as of late for his work on Mochilla's "Suite for Ma Duke" project, where he arranged and conducted music of the late J. Dilla for a full orchestra. Bilal's Airtight's Revenge will be released on September 14th on Plug Research.

Free track:

<http://miguelatwood-ferguson.bandcamp.com/track/some-day-well-all-be-free-feat-bilal>

Recorded live in Los Angeles at Grand Performances, California Plaza July 23, 2010.

Produced by:

Miguel Atwood-Ferguson

Co-Produced by:

Andrew Lojero

Recording & Mixing Engineer:

Benjamin Tierney

Miguel Atwood-Ferguson Ensemble:

Bilal (vocals)

Flying Lotus (laptop)

Miguel Atwood-Ferguson (violin)

Evan Francis (flute)
Dontae Winslow (trumpet)
Joey Dosik (alto sax)
Kamasi Washington (tenor sax)
Garrett Smith (trombone)
Rebekah Raff (harp)
Marcel Camargo (guitar)
Brandon Coleman (keys)
Stephen 'Thundercat' Bruner (bass)
Chris 'Daddy' Dave (drums)
Nikki Campbell (percussion)

Photos:

Azul Amaral
Mike Park