

The Niceguys – “Somebody” Feat. Lee Lonn Walker

Rapper Yves Saint, producers Christolph and Free, and DJ Candlestick, the Houston-based foursome known as The Niceguys, are excited to drop “Somebody,” the Lee Lonn Walker featuring love-themed new single from their debut album, The Show – and just in time for Valentine’s Day. Following the triumphant and celebratory sounds of “Toast,” released with an accompanying video in early January, “Somebody” mellows things out, with a sound reminiscent of the mellow tones of old school soul, complete with understated percussion and reverb heavy instrumentation.

“Love is not a choice. So when you do love, love well,” says Yves, the Queens-born emcee who has spent the last number of years in Houston after meeting the rest of The Niceguys while in school together at the University of Houston. "I wrote the whole song, but the most poignant parts were the bars that I wrote for Lee Lonn to sing: 'We won't live if we don't try/ And love is life, so we won't die.'"

Fans can also look forward to a video for "Somebody," to be released later this month.

Download "Somebody" here.

Download The Niceguys' debut album, The Show here: http://thenicelook.com/NICE_LOOK.html

iTunes