

Hoodgrown, The 1st iPad Hip Hop Magazine Now Available on the iPhone & iPod Touch

June 4, 2011 – New York, NY – Tablazines, the publisher of Hoodgrown Magazine, the 1st hip hop magazine for the iPad has announced that it can now be accessed by both iPhone and iPod Touch users as well.

“While the reading experience is still best on the iPad due to it’s larger screen,” explained Tablazine’s founder Chris English. “We’ve add iPhone & iPod Touch functionality so that majority of Hip Hop fans will be able to sample Hoodgrown and see what we’re about.”

What started as a print magazine that ceased publication due to increasing print cost and decreasing advertising revenue has returned as the first hip hop magazine app to hit the Apple App Store. Spearheaded by Chris “Cartel” English and Lord Jamar (of Brand Nubian fame), Hoodgrown Magazine is available for free from the App Store at <http://itunes.apple.com/us/app/hoodgrown-magazine/id402102897?mt=8>
