

Jay King Honors Media Pioneer Lee Bailey on The Jay King Radio Network

Lee Bailey

Hollywood, CA – Before TMZ, bloggers and syndicated radio, urbanites would sit anxiously by their radio at a designated time to hear who was doing what, how and to who via a show called Radioscope. The year was 1983 and Radioscope scooped the news and entertainment gossip as the first syndicated urban entertainment magazine on the air! Then in 1996, EURweb.com took the agenda viral, with a online format that provided news, entertainment, gossip and editorial for an audience now in the millions.

And the man behind it all is Lee Bailey, a visionary with a bellowing voice that rolls across the airwaves. As the founder of Lee Bailey Communications, Inc., Bailey Broadcasting Services and Rabercom, Bailey has molded a communications empire that services not only listeners and readers, but also a plethora of media including radio, tv and bloggers who all count on him and his staff for up-to-the-minute news.

On Monday, June 6, 2011, from 7:00 p.m. PST to 9:00 p.m. PST, Jay King will honor and interview Bailey on his show, “The Way I See It” on the Jay King Radio Network on www.BlogTalkRadio.com/Jay-King. Interestingly enough, Jay King was one of the many music artists who relied on RadioScope for publicity and promotions for his two groups, Timex Social Club and Club Nouveau. In addition, Bailey was one of his influences propelling him to launch his own Internet radio show and network.

“As an artist, back in the day, you had to be interviewed on Radioscope to be taken seriously,” recalls King. “An interview on Radioscope was validation that you were impacting the music scene. And even now, when EURweb.com covers a story, the news goes viral instantly. Lee Bailey is a media revolutionary in my book. He does something, everyone else follows. It will be an honor to turn the mike on him and interview the man behind the interviews!”

Lee Bailey’s EURweb.com – which recently launched the UrbanEntrepreneur channel for small business owners and entrepreneurs – can be found online at <http://www.EURweb.com> and reaches over 1.5 million people a month. His syndicated show Radioscope reaches three to four million monthly giving him a combined reach of over five million people per month.

The Jay King Network is a series of radio shows on the BlogTalkRadio.com/Jay-King circuit. King and his co-host Robert Redwine have become a staple for thousands of listeners around the world with “The Way I See It,” a broadcast that has expanded from Sundays from 2:00 to 4:00 pm PST to now include “The Music Industry” version of “The Way I See It” on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:00 to 9:00 pm PST. The Jay King Network also includes “SESSIONS with Lynn Tolliver” at 3:00 p.m. PST every Saturday, and a morning show, entitled “Kings in the Morning” hosted by Jay King, Anthony King, Robert Redwine and Lynn Tolliver every Tuesday and Thursday morning at 7:00 a.m. PST.
