I'm sure by now you have heard and seen the Tupac hologram from the Coachella festival this past weekend. Tupac's digital apparition stole the show and has become the most talked about event to take place. Fans were overjoyed to be entertained by the late rapper's image done by AV Concepts and dreamed up by Dr. Dre. There was talk of a Nate Dogg hologram before the festival but it turns out it was really for Tupac and they used a video montage for Nate. Tupac's CGI presence is so life-like that feelings of elation, sadness and the initial shock were inevitable. The hologram even has its own Twitter page.
