

King Reign-Killer

[youtube id="x82z9yxi6Cc"]

Toronto rapper King Reign examines the stereotypes about all Black males being sociopaths in his song "Killer." After making fun of Toronto's mayor Rob Ford, who became infamous last year after getting caught smoking crack, Reign points out that urban dwellers are also afraid of killers but have to live beside them. The rapper is preparing for the release of his Sincere album this summer.
