

SATE-What Did I Do

SATE follows-up her recently released “Warrior” single with the blues-heavy “What Did I Do” about the unexpected end of a relationship. The Toronto native will release her debut album later this year. She describes “What I Do” as: “You know that feeling of reaching out for a friend or a loved one and having this gut feeling sense that they’re no longer in the proverbial bed with you? That’s what this is about. This is about that relationship, where the rug is pulled out from under you. You’re thinking everything is cool, cause there’s no indication of what went wrong. So now you’re faced with that person not beside you any longer and forced to ask the question, “What did I do that could be so bad?”