

GoldLink-See I Miss Pt. 2

DMV rapper GoldLink released his debut album And After That We Didn't Talk and "See I Miss" from the album has been revamped into "See I Miss Part 2" with vocals from Marsha Ambrosius. The Washington D.C. native calls his music Future Bounce says that, "Marsha added a certain balance and flavor to the song that only a woman could provide and it sounds great. A lot of people make songs about relationships and it's really one-sided. You don't always get to have another creative with a fundamentally different outlook and approach add to it in a genuine way. So I'm really grateful this was able to happen."
