

FKA twigs: Baltimore Dance Project

[youtube id="dKlzBJx2jSc"] FKA twigs hosted a free dance workshop in Baltimore this past summer and 400 dancers answered the call. The video has highlights from the five-hour session that took place at Baltimore's Lithuanian Hall. The British artist said she chose Baltimore to have the workshop out of curiosity because of all the negative things said about the city in the press.

“I just wanted to see what the truth was, and the truth was very different from what the media had made it out to be.”