

Charles Bradley Announces New Tour After Cancer Treatment

Charles Bradley has announced a new tour after taking time off for the treatment of cancer. Bradley was diagnosed with stomach cancer in October of 2016 and canceled remaining tour dates to deal with his health. He is back on the road tonight at the Sasquatch! Music Festival in Washington, and will be for the rest of the summer. Bradley thanked his fans in his tour announcement.

"I am so grateful to my beautiful fans and touched by all the love and support they showed me through my crisis and time of sickness they truly lifted me up and kept me going. I am honoured and glad to be back and am going to give you all of my love."
