

Charles Bradley Cancels Tour Because Of Sickness

Charles Bradley has canceled his tour because his stomach cancer has spread to his liver. The cancer has not returned to his stomach but he is taking time away from music to receive treatment. His third album Changes was released last year to critical acclaim and his performance on CBS This Morning: Saturday earned him an Emmy nomination for Outstanding On-Camera Musical Performance In A Daytime Program. Bradley left a message for his fans regarding the break:

“I love all of you out there that made my dreams come true,” notes the 68-year old. “When I come back, I’ll come back strong, with God’s love. With God’s will, I’ll be back soon.”
