Kelela Shares Behind The Scenes Of Her LMK Video

[youtube id="gqQcqECwAzI"] Kelela shares behind the scenes footage of her video for "LMK" and commentary on the song's meaning. She explains how the song is about some woman who want casual relationships with men without drama or a loss of respect. "LMK" stands for 'Let Me Know' and she feels that women seeking those kinds of relationships just want men to be honest because those women are not seeking long-term commitments. Kelela's Take Me Apart debut album comes out October 6th and she will go on a tour of North America and Europe October 20th.

Courtney Pine Links With Omar For Rules

[youtube id="CQpKN87gfxo"] "Rules" is one of two collaborations Courtney Pine has with Omar on his new album Black Notes From The Deep. Pine uses Freddie Hubbard's "Red Clay" to build on and the carefree piece gives way to Pine's tenor sax blasting off at the end. Pine's horn has been around since the '80s and he's consistently created his own lane of soulful jazz. His reputation is built on his saxophone but he is multi-instrumentalist who also plays the bass clarinet, flute, keyboards and clarinet. Black Notes From The Deep is his 19th album and you can pre-order it now before the October 27th release date.
