

Shabazz Palaces: NPR Music Tiny Desk Concert

Shabazz Palaces stopped by the NPR offices in Washington, D.C. in between their tour dates to give a three-song set with bassist Otis Calvin. The duo has been on tour since the release of their double album, Quazarz: Born On A Gangsta Star and Quazarz vs. The Jealous Machines came out this past summer. Their celestial sounds take off in the office like a magic carpet gliding from earth to space and back to earth again.
