

Tuxedo Collaborates With Zapp On Shy

Tuxedo made one of their dreams come true and collaborated with Zapp on the new single “Shy.” Mayer Hawthorne sings to a lady sitting all alone at a club and encourages her to dance. The late Roger Troutman’s band still tours and puts on a show worth seeing. It is no surprise that Tuxedo would want to work with one of their idols. The duo released their Tuxedo II album last year and have been on the road nonstop. “Shy” is a testament to their undying love for the funk and their relentless creativity.
