

Lenny Kravitz Wants A Better World In Video For It's Enough

[youtube id="QwKb6TQ8alo"]Lenny Kravitz puts the world's problems on trial in his video for "It's Enough." Racism, women's rights, religious prejudice and police brutality is represented in footage of the people's struggles from around the globe. Kravitz's upcoming album, Raise Vibration has a direct message about his feelings on the way the world needs to evolve. He streamed the video for "It's Enough" live on Facebook and said this about it:

"People are standing up Iâ€™ve had enough of racism. I've had enough of war. Iâ€™ve had enough of the destruction of the environment and the greed and dishonesty of world leaders. We've got to get back on track toward moving forward through higher understanding."

Raise Vibration is Kravitz's 11th studio and it will officially be released on September 9th but is available for pre-order.Â
