

Noname Releases First Video With Blaxploitation Film

[youtube id="syi60tUIP48"]Noname released her first video today with the short film for "Blaxploitation." Director Alex Lill places a young Black boy in the city at night where he tries to overcome his environment in a surreal walk through town as a giant-sized person. "Blaxploitation" is from Noname's critically lauded Room 25 album that came out this year. The Chicago rapper had another first when she recently made her late-night television debut on Stephen Colbert's show. She is getting ready for a 37-city tour that will begin in Detroit on January 2nd and tickets are on sale now.Â Â
