

Fatoumata Diawara Set To Perform With Seun Kutí At Pre-Grammy Show

Malian singer-songwriter, guitarist and actress Fatoumata Diawara is celebrating the Best World Music Album Grammy nomination for her debut album Fenfo \(Something To Say\). The artist used her first offering to address social issues including arranged marriages, female genital mutilation and domestic violence. Her single, “Nterini” streamed over one million times in 2018 and ended up on Barack Obama’s favorite songs of the year list. She will perform at the Pre-Grammy showcase hosted by Shaggy at the Microsoft Theater in Los Angeles before the main telecast and will stream live at 3:30 AM ET at Grammy.com.

[youtube id="4gmGL5SqhaY"]