

John Legend Announces Bigger Love Album

John Legend has announced the release of his next album Bigger Love. The announcement comes one day after he shared the video for the title track “Bigger Love.” The video was inspired by the way people have been connecting with each other during the pandemic. Fans were encouraged to send in their clips and some of them were included in the final cut. Legend says, “

“This video was made to celebrate our shared love, hope and resilience. We’re all using technology to stay in touch and finding creative ways to cope and we wanted the video to be a big musical hug for people around the world who are finding ways to stay connected to family, help their neighbors, and make time for a needed dance break despite the crazy circumstances we find ourselves in.”

Bigger Love comes out on June 19th but can be pre-ordered now.
