

Goldkay's Party Single Celebrates The Last Bit Of Summer

Goldkay is inspired by the last days of summer with his latest single "Party." The Caribbean-flavored rhythm of the beat and Goldkay's lyrical cadence has the blissful laziness of the sun. He says,

"I made 'Party' whilst I was on holiday with friends at Rotterdam Carnival last year, we were celebrating each other's recent achievements, throwing parties all day and having the best summer, that's why the track is so perfect for celebrating and having a good time."

The London by way of Ghana artist started making music on the Afrobeats scene after being a member of the British choir group Gospel Singers Incognito. His breakout single "Bluffin" came out two years ago and he has been a fixture ever since.Â
