

Kevin Saunderson Drops Video For Inner City & Idris Elba's We All Move Together Featuring Detroit Will Breathe

Kevin Saunderson just released the video for his Inner City and Idris Elba collaboration "We All Move Together." Saunderson linked with Detroit Will Breathe, an organization formed after the killing of George Floyd to fight police brutality, systemic racism and exploitation, for the video. In July Saunderson released his first album as Inner City in almost three decades which is also titled We All Move Together. The Detroit Techno pioneer enlisted Elba for the single which was originally about people moving on the dancefloor but is ultimately about humanity.Â