

Join Noname in Chicago For A Free Sundial Block Party: Navy Blue, Alex Vaughn & More To Perform

Credit: Sinalo Ngcaba

Noname is having a free Sundial block party in Chicago to celebrate the release of her next album. The rapper's Sundial album comes out on August 11th and the block party happens on August 17th from 3-9 PM. Entry to the party is free with a book donation in collaboration with the Noname Book Club. Sula, Blood In My Eye and titles by Black authors are the suggested titles that will be donated to incarcerated members of the book club. Noname, Navy Blue, Alex Vaughn and surprise guests will perform at the event. DJ Greensliime and Finding ljeoma will provide DJ sets and there will be refreshments and activities for children. Sundial has guest appearances from Common, Billy Woods, Jay Electronica, Ayoni and more.
