The mysterious Mikahl Anthony releases his double-single "Space Blue/Deep Ain't It" on R&S Records. Anthony's vocals have tonal memories of Marvin Gaye, D'Angelo, and Raheem DeVaughn. Nico "Donnie Trumpet" Segal, known for his membership in Chicago's Savemoney hip-hop collective with Chance The Rapper produced the night moods of "Space Blue." Evil Needle produced the shuffling beat of "Deep Ain't It." The two-sided single is part of Anthony's upcoming MUSE album. The St. Louis, Missouri native is a filmmaker too and some of his self-directed pieces will appear on MUSE which also functions as an acronym meaning 1. Ms. Using Sensual Energy & 2. Making Use of Seclusion. Anthony has hidden his true identity so far he has worked on a project with Via Rosa (of the soulful electro Duo Drama) on The Great Depression EP. He also was a producer, co-curator, and featured artist on Jean Deaux's EP Outer Body EP. In addition to the two new tunes, a Muzeum playlist embodies Anthony's "socio-political state of mind and sensuality."
