

Chelsi Lauren Shares Dancehall-Inspired Single No Other

Chelsi Lauren is known for her work with rappers Giggs and rap duo Krept & Konan in their native Britain. The UK singer has not confined herself to any sound and today she debuts her new dancehall single “No Other.” The wavy pulsation of the beat and Lauren’s lyrics dedicated to her one and only love emote is a match for a club atmosphere or a night party on the beach. Producer Markus Myrie grasped the last days of summer inside “No Other’s” R&B and dancehall vibe. Lauren’s sophomore EP is coming in December and “No Other” is her third single this year following “In My Feelings” and “Teyana.”

Nissi Returns With TwoBadGuyz - Produced Singe Undercover

Nissi collaborates with UK Afrobeats producer TwoBadGuyz on her new single “Undercover.” She opened up about the process behind “Undercover” in a press release:

“Undercover” really is just a vibe. We recorded it the very first we met. TwoBadGuyz was playing me some draft instrumentals he was working on, and once I heard this one, I literally started freestyling onto it. The song lyrics really talk about the thrill of doing something that isn't necessarily right, but feels like it is, so you do it anyway. The boisterous production definitely demanded this kind of daring and free songwriting from me.

Nissi started making music a couple of years ago and has shown her appreciation for R&B, jazz and pop. "Undercover" is her first time making a dancehall-inspired record and it is the third single to leak before the release of her debut EP The Virus, coming out this fall.

Santigold: I Don't Want: The Gold Fire Sessions Album Stream

Santigold surprises fans with the release of her dancehall album I Don't Want: The Gold Fire Sessions. The 10-song collection was put together with Dre Skull and she told Pitchfork that the music is about social commentary and the passion needed to fight for your beliefs. The artist had twins earlier this year and is currently doing some tour dates with Lauryn Hill. Santigold's last album was 99¢ from two years ago.

Jubilee Starts Party With Video For Wine Up

[youtube id="wkJ4NDVUee8"] Â Jubilee released her After Hours debut album late last year and now she has a video for dancehall-influenced "Wine-Up." It's a party atmosphere featuring Bronx dancehall artist Hoodcelebrityy and two dancers moving around Brooklyn. She explains the inspiration for the video:

"Wine Up" is a song that I made specifically to have fun and dance to, which I think we all need in these times, so the video had to show that. But that was easy because I was working with Crackstevens and Hoodcelebrityy. Hood is always inspiring because she is a star and her presence alone is captivating. Her delivery is always flawless and she was born to be on a stage and on a screen, so between her, having 3 talented NY dancers, and a director whose videos I love, my wishes of fun were granted. I hope you enjoy it!"

Listen to After Hours here.