

Ghostface Killah & BADBADNOTGOOD-Six Degrees Feat. Danny Brown

[youtube id="yA-ee9M_jhE"]

“Six Degrees” is a song put together by Ghostface Killah and Toronto jazz trio BADBADNOTGOOD. There is also a feature from Danny Brown on the track that can be pre-ordered for the 10” vinyl version and goes on sale digitally June 23rd.

Gregory Porter-No Love Dying Live In Glasgow

[youtube id="8VIC2st29I8"]

Gregory Porter performs “No Love Dying” at the 02 ABC venue in Glasgow.

Regina Carter-See See Rider Live On Soundcheck

[youtube id="KI7NrmTqjn8"]

Regina Carter performs her cover of “See See Rider” at WNYC’s Soundcheck Studio with her Southern Comfort band. Carter’s interpretation of the famous blues song is from her current album of Americana explorations, also named Southern Comfort. The jazz violinist says, that Southern Comfort started as a journey back to her father's family roots in Alabama and ended up becoming an exploration of the music of The Appalachians created by Native Americans, slaves and European settlers from Scotland and Ireland. The concept of finding her ancestral origins in the music is a continuation of her last album Reverse Thread, which focused on her mother's side of the family and African folk music. Regina Carter's tour will resume on April 19th.

XL Recordings Is Releasing A New Gil Scott-Heron Album

[youtube id="HiEST26-bcc"]

XL Recordings is releasing a new album of unheard songs from Gil Scott-Heron that were recorded in 2008 during the I'm New Here sessions. The recordings are stripped down versions of some of past material, including this version of "Alien (Hold On Your Dreams)." XL chose to make the announcement today on what would have been Gil Scott-Heron's 65th birthday. Nothing New will be released exclusively in 12" vinyl on the April 19th Record Store Day.