

Media Questions Of The Week

1. Did Jeremy Scott design the Adidas JS Roundhouse Mid Handcuff “Shackle shoes” to cause shock and get his name high in the Google rankings? Was the shoe really going to come out?

Get More: Lil Wayne, Music News

2. What does Nicki Minaj feeling disrespected by H0T97 have to do with her ditching her professional responsibility to the fans who paid money and made provisions to see the concert? And since when did Lil’ Wayne start “respecting” women?

3. Has Jonathan Taylor made a mockery of Dilla’s legacy?

Adidas Has Shackles On New Shoes

Adidas JS Roundhouse Mid Handcuff

Adidas has gone over the top and introduced a new sneaker that has orange cuffs attached. The JS Roundhouse Mid Handcuff shoe will retail for $350 in August when they are released. You can't help but think that the shoe makers and marketing company have a very cynical racist outlook on the people who would buy these shoes. You can almost hear them saying "Hey if they will cause a riot for the new Jordans at 12AM they will wear these handcuffs that reflect their slave mentality." There is a Facebook page for the shoe and it's a great time to leave a comment about it. This might not have been so bad if Aaron McGruder did it. And you have to ask will they use "Shackles" to sell the shoe?