

Dekalb Market Announces New Summer Programming Including Events This Weekend with Afrika Bambaataa (Sunday) and Family Day (Saturday)

New York, NY (July 10, 2012) – Dekalb Market, presented by Urban Space and Youngwoo & Associates, is hosting an eclectic mix of events throughout July including the Rong Music Summer Block Party with Afrika Bambaataa on July 15 from 5:00-10:00pm. Tickets are $20.

This Saturday, July 14, Dekalb Market will be the go-to destination for “Family Day” with entertainment for all ages, including face painting, a bouncy castle, live music, a petting zoo, raffle giveaways with $50 Dekalb Market gift certificates for all your shopping needs and special family friendly product highlights from various vendors. Live DJ sets and music includes DJ Michna and local bands from 12noon-5:00pm. Entry is free.

The multi-purpose, cultural destination in Downtown Brooklyn will also feature a slew of new weekly events including Ladies Night, Baby Meetup and Happy Hour at The Get Down, Dekalb Market’s beer and wine garden, with local craft beer, wine and sangria. Additional summer events include fun, family-oriented curated music, art, food and film experiences such as Rooftop Films, “Down & Derby” roller-skating, live music, dancing and even yoga, in addition to the usual offerings every day at the Market.

Open seven days a week, locals and visitors can now spend a leisurely morning, afternoon or evening while enjoying a Robicelli Cupcake along with a cup of Joe's Coffee or partake in Maharlika's Filipino street food while browsing among the additional 45 retail shops including Etsy Collective, YakBlak, Hank & JoJo, Harriet's Alter Ego and Limegreen.

Situated over an entire square block – voted best New York Architecture of 2011 by New York Observer – Dekalb Market is built from recycled shipping containers converted into over 60 food & retail shops which frame a distinct space for this year's outdoor events and programs.

More announcements on Dekalb Market's upcoming events will be announced shortly.

C1RCA Teams Up with Hip Hop Pioneer, Afrika Bambaataa to Create the Zulu Collection!

San Clemente, CA – February 28, 2011- C1RCA Select is proud to announce the collaboration with Hip Hop pioneer, Afrika

Bambaataa, on the Spring 2011 tee and sneaker collection entitled the Zulu Collection.

Bronx native Afrika Bambaataa is one of the originators of break-beat deejaying, and one of the architects of Hip Hop Culture. In fact, he is credited for coining the phrase, "Hip Hop" to name the whole culture, pulling all of the five elements together. He also helped fuel the development of other musical genres such as Freestyle or Latin Freestyle, Miami Bass, House, Hip House, Electronic and early Techno. He was the first to use a synthesizer on a Hip Hop record, ultimately creating the Electro Funk sound.

C1RCA is proud to work with Afrika Bambaataa again (initially in a sponsored concert 10 years ago), and is excited about the sneaker and t-shirt offerings in the Spring 2011 Select Collection.

Afrika Bambaataa and C1RCA have teamed up to create two shoes for the Spring 2011 collection, the Convert and the 99 Vulc. The Bambaataa Convert features a High Top design with a molded EVA insole for added comfort. The Bambaataa Convert comes in a green, black and red color way with Suede, Patent Leather, Perf Action Nubuck, and a 3M reflective Upper. The Convert advertises the collab with "UZN" on the heel and "Zulu Nation" on the bottom sole representing the Universal Zulu Nation.

The Bambaataa 99 Vulc features a Mid-Top design with specialized, unique logo and material treatment. The Bambaataa 99 Vulc comes in black and gold with soft Nappa and wrinkle patent leather and the UZN branding on the tongue.

The Zulu collection also features three Zulu tshirts.
