

Watch Little Simz's Interactive Visual For Gorilla

Watch Little Simz's interactive video for "Gorilla" from last year's NO THANK YOU. The jazzy bass-lifted track is directed by Dave Meyers and has a Microsoft Cloud and AI-assisted version that change with a user's click. The critically-acclaimed British rapper wears her Lauryn Hill influence proudly as she appears in multiple colorful scenarios with her crew. Fans can participate in live installations for the video going up today and tomorrow (June 22) in New York and London. In September she will embark on a North American tour which will begin in Chicago. The physical release of NO THANK YOU is now available at her official site. Little Simz was also seen last year in the science fiction drama series The Power on Amazon Prime. Watch the video for "Gorilla" and check out the interactive one here.
