

North Elements & Wayfarer// Collaborate With Denitia On Break

Denitia has collaborated with Australian producers North Elements and Wayfarer// for the atmospheric “Break.” The song came together after the producers asked the NYC musician to lend her voice. North Elements used Kintsugi, the art of embracing damage as inspiration for the song about people embracing their imperfections. Denitia had this to say about the song, “I’ve been feeling extra intense lately, and these days, the world feels like it’s constantly caving in; when I find something I really want, it feels fragile and urgent. The pressure and the need to live truly in the moment when nothing else is ever promised.. it’s beautiful and scary all at once.. To find someone to fall apart with, it’s good company.”

NATIONS-Planned Out World Featuring Denitia

[youtube id="CIxAo9ja7ag"] NATIONS is an artist from the BKLYN1834 collective and they released their Comp_01 compilation of electronic music earlier this month. “Planned Out World” is their song with Denitia and the video is a winter night watching her walk through the city and hear her voice lead the way.

Denitia Debuts New Solo Project As Adesuwa

Denitia Odigie has been busy the past few years as one half of the Brooklyn-based R&B/pop duo denitia and sene. She has reconnected with her Nigerian roots to record solo as Adesuwa, which is her middle name. "One Only" is her first offering as Adesuwa and it is emotive, misty pop about love and desire.

Denitia & Kendall Morgan-Fadin'

Brooklyn R&B singer/songwriter Denitia Odigie and Nashville singer Kendall Morgan have collaborated on the late-night single "Fadin." It is a familiar story of a dying love affair and the feelings that come when one realizes that the connection is over. Denitia produced the song and co-wrote it with Morgan.
