

Flying Lotus Remixes Queen's White Queen (As It Began)

<https://soundcloud.com/flyinglotus/night-grows-pale>

Flying Lotus has indulged his fans with two new songs including his remix of David Lynch's Twin Peaks theme and now he has taken Queen's "Night Queen (As It Began)" and reconstructed it as a piece of hazy soul. He calls his rebuilt version "Night Grows Pale." The producer will appear at Moogfest on May 18th and will be on tour this summer.

---

Flying Lotus Trailer For New Film Kuso

[youtube id="p0W09ib0tTQ"] Kuso is a new film from Flying Lotus with George Clinton, Donnell Rawlings and Hannibal Buress among the cast. The surreal-looking piece is Lotus' debut as a director and the movie delves into the aftermath of a California earthquake. Kuso will premiere at the Sundance Film Festival on January 21st.

Lotus' first film excursion was the short Royal which screened at the Sundance NEXT FEST in August of 2006. David Firth and Zach Fox co-wrote Kuso and Eddie Alcazar produced the movie for Flying Lotus' Brainfeeder Films.

See the Kuso screening schedule at the Sundance Film Festival site.

---

Flying Lotus Launches Brainfeeder Films

Flying Lotus is launching his Brainfeeder Films company with the release of Kuso with filmmaker Eddie Alcazar. The producer made his debut as a director at the Sundance NEXT Fest last month with the short love story Royal. He has this to say about the mission of Brainfeeder Films:

“Eddie and I started Brainfeeder Films with the intention to produce and support influential and experimental entertainment for film and music fans around the world,” Flying Lotus said in a recent report. “I’ve always wanted Brainfeeder to be a home for emerging artists, creative talent, and filmmakers who are looking to work outside the traditional studio and independent distribution systems.”

Flying Lotus is headlining his Brainfeeder concert at the Fox Theater this Thursday, September 15th with George Clinton, Thundercat, Shabazz Palaces and Gaslamp Killer. A second show was added after the first one sold out and tickets can be purchased directly from the theater.

---

Afropunk Announces Lineup For

12th Annual NYC Festival

Afropunk has announced the lineup for this year's 12th annual festival in NYC. Ice Cube, Flying Lotus, George Clinton, Saul Williams, The Internet, Thundercat and Shabazz Palaces are some of the acts on the roster. The festival will take place August 27th & 28th at Brooklyn's Commodore Barry Park in Fort Greene. Tickets can be purchased here.