Watch: LeBron James & Nas Talk About Sharing Black Culture

[youtube id="79WRPujWss4"]Nas and LeBron James talk about the way Black culture is celebrated at the same time that the humanity of Black people is ignored on HBO Sport's The Shop. James and Maverick Carter's Uninterrupted media company have collaborated with HBO Sports to present unscripted conversations with sports and entertainment figures on the show. Ice Cube, Mary J. Blige and Nas are guests on Episode 3 where they have a discussion about the way America embraces

Black creativity while devaluing Black life.Â

LeBron James to Join Russell Simmons for Cleveland Register For Change Rally for Obama-Biden on Saturday, October 4

SATURDAY: LeBron James and Russell Simmons to attend Cleveland Register For Change Rally for Obama-Biden

NBA all-star and Hip Hop leader and mogul will urge Obama-Biden supporters to register, vote early Cleveland Cavaliers All-Star and Akron native LeBron James, and entrepreneur and philanthropist Russell Simmons will attend a Register for Change rally for Barack Obama and Joe Biden in Cleveland on Saturday.

The duo will urge Ohioans to register before Monday's deadline and cast their ballots during the early voting period that extends through Election Day.

James is a four-time NBA All-Star and a member of the 2008 Gold-medal winning USA basketball team. He is also actively involved in a wide range of philanthropic endeavors, and established the LeBron James Family Foundation, which sponsors activities and programs to help children and families in need.

Simmons is a Hip Hop leader, entertainment mogul and committed philanthropist. In 2007 USA Today named Simmons one of the "Top 25 Most Influential People of the Past 20 Years," for his groundbreaking vision that has influenced music, fashion, television and film, as well as the face of modern philanthropy.

Ohioans can get more information on where and how to vote early at www.voteforchange.com or by calling 1-877-0H EARLY (877-643-2759)
