

Media Questions Of The Week

66% of music listening in the US is catalogue versus new.

does the barrage of music released each week stand a chance at being consumed later as catalogue?

does this trend illustrate fatigue over so much new music that is often. um. mid? <https://t.co/C4Yp0RyqUE>

– Karlie Hustle (@THEkarliehustle) July 16, 2021

If 66% of music listening in the United States is catalog records who will be the legacy artists of the future?

Â

A taste of the Season 2 Bible. Wish we could have brought you #LovecraftCountry: Supremacy. Thank you to everyone who watched and engaged. pic.twitter.com/BONbSfbjWg #noconfederate

– Misha Green (@MishaGreen) July 3, 2021

Â

Will there be a season two of Lovecraft Country now that it has received 18 Emmy nominations and its creator Misha Green signed a deal with Apple+ after HBO Max canceled the series?Â

Nicki Minaj's manager, Irving Azoff thinks that the age of the televised award show is over. What are your thoughts? pic.twitter.com/VCT1SmuvWg

– @BarbRoom July 17, 2021

Is Irving Azoff right about the award show becoming a thing of the past?Â