

Lyric Christian & Robert PM Drop Video For Hands Off (My Crown)

Robert PM and Lyric Christian warn others to keep their “Hands Off (My Crown)” with the rhythm of house. The Brooklyn producer who is also one-half of the indie band French Horn Rebellion collaborated with singer/songwriter model Christian to craft the lo-fi dancefloor seduction. The video is a clever capsulation of the vibe filmed on an iPhone while they were en route to a club. Christian explained the song’s inspiration in a statement:

“This song is all about how you make yourself feel—no one else. It’s a sexy soulful house track and whenever I listen to it I'm reminded of who I am—a badass, confident and beautiful woman who is in control of her own narrative.”

There is no word on whether these two have a full-length project in the works but “Hands Off (My Crown)” indicates future musical chemistry.