

Media Questions Of The Week

1. Why was the interviewer for Vanity Fair so fascinated with Jay-Z's drug-dealing past?

2. Why is fashion designer Marc Ecko using Biggie's "Ten Crack Commandments" in his Skillshare class when he could've just used something from Puffy's business acumen that was used to make B.I.G. a star?

3. Is Questlove correct when he says that Miley Cyrus is using Black people as "accessories" in her entertainment ventures with hip-hop?

4. What does it mean that The Carlye Group which once had a Bin Laden family in its membership has invested \$500 million dollars into Beats By Dre?