

Media Questions Of The Week

Mandatory Credit: Photo by Mark Von Holden/Shutterstock (10268507ad) Nick Cannon
'The Masked Singer' FYC Event, Los Angeles,
USA – 04 Jun 2019

Was Nick Cannon being anti-semitic when he called Black people the “true Hebrews?”

Black women are so unprotected & we hold so many things in to protect the feelings of others w/o considering our own. It might be funny to yâ€™all on the internet and just another messy topic for you to talk about but this is my real life and Iâ€™m real life hurt and traumatized.

– TINA SNOW (@theestallion) July 17, 2020

Why are people making jokes about Megan Thee Stallion being shot and giving her point about Black women not being valued some truth?Â

Is Lord Finesse right about doing away with the old-school label to automatically describe music and artists of a certain era in hip-hop?Â

Media Questions Of The Week

1. Is it really surprising that GQ magazine published a cover story about Kendrick Lamar full of gangsta rap racial stereotypes?

2. Will Nick Cannon's reboot of "Soul Train" be a success?

3. What will Ice-T's new Body Count album, Manslaughter sound like?

Media Questions Of The Week

1. Why did Nick Cannon interview Ted Nugent for his new weekly podcast?

2. Does Lil' Mo believe that Florida is the only place artists can work therefore, they should not join Stevie Wonder's boycott of the state because of the Stand Your Ground law?

3. Why did Zimmerman juror B29, feel the need to publicly state that "George Zimmerman got away with murder?"

Nas And Nick Cannon's PSA Against Coonery In Rap