Anderson.paak & Knxwledge Reboot Their Nx Worries Project & Release Where I Go Feat. H.E.R.

Anderson.paak and Knxwledge reboot their NxWorries partnership with “Where I Go” featuring H.E.R. The duo first met on Twitter in 2014 and by 2016 they released their Yes Lawd! debut album. The video is romantic and humorous with H.E.R. stealing all of the spotlight near the end. They also pay tribute to '90s R&B videos with the look of the clip and by mocking the materialism. Anderson.paak performed “Where I Go” live in 2020 on tour. The presence of their return as NxWorries is now building excitement for their next album.

NxWorries (anderson.paak & Knxwledge) Remix Suede

anderson.paak and Knxwledge have a remixed version of their debut album Yes Lawd! coming out this week. “Suede (Uptwnmixx)” is a sample of the project that Knxwledge exclusively reworked and effectively turned Yes Lawd! into two different albums. Yes Lawd! Remixes will be released by Stones Throw on Friday (November 17th).

NxWorries (anderson.paak & Knxwledge) Announces Yes Lawd! Remixes

anderson.paak and Knxwledge are releasing remixes of their NxWorries album Yes Lawd!. They shared the new version of “Best One” today in preparation for the actual release on November 17th. The remix was heard for the first time in their “Scared Money” video.
