

Obii Say-Whose World?

[vimeo id="89308069"]

D.C. rapper Obii Say returns with a video for his song “Whose World?” obviously inspired to a great extent by Nas. He says that he wore the mask in the clip he co-directed because he wanted people to be intrigued with the visuals whether the sound was on or not.

Obii Say has returned with a song about the psychological profile of a young killer seeking to prove his “realness” but it’s really just “Plastic” behavior for something deeper.

Obii Say-twenty twelve

Obii Say drops a freestyle called “twenty twelve” over Wajeed’s “Starz” as he finishes two projects due to come out later this year.
