NxWorries (anderson.paak & Knxwledge) premiere the video for "FromHere" featuring Snoop Dogg and singer October London. Paak directed the video for the song that portrays him as the loneliest man in the club at the night's end. London works out his falsetto and Snoop Dogg's comical commentary about a man losing his relationship is unexpected and funny. They go retro and put some of the vibe from '50s and '60s R&B into what will be one of the biggest breakup songs of the summer. NxWorries' Why, Lawd? will have its physical release on June 7th and be available digitally on June 14th.

Maxwell is returning to the road in the fall with his Serenade tour and guests Jazmine Sullivan and October London. The North American leg of the Serenade 2024 Tour will begin in September at the Seminole Hard Rock Hotel and Casino. The singer is also scheduled to perform at the Cincinnati Music Festival in June. The neo-soul icon's tour schedule is always booked and last year he performed at the Kennedy Center, at Wynn's Encore Theater in Las Vegas, and with the San Francisco Symphony. He was joined by Leela James, Robert Glasper, and more for his Urban Hang Suite cruise to the Bahamas in February. Fans are still patiently waiting for blacksummer's NIGHT, the final album from the trilogy that started with BLACKsummer's night. Sullivan's Heaux Tales won the Grammy for Best R&B Album in 2022. October London's throwback soul has expanded its reach since he signed with Snoop Dogg's Death Row Records. He was recently heard on the soundtrack for The Color Purple with the song "Eternity." Tickets for the Serenade Tour will go on sale March 29th at 10 AM with VIP options for every show.
