

Omar Releases First Christmas Song That Time Again Feat. Charlene Hamilton

Omar has recorded his first XMAS single with “That Time Again” featuring Charlene Hamilton. His longtime collaborator and brother Scratch Professor produced “That Time Again.” Omar performs his signature soul surrounded by jazzy piano and subtle tinkly bells with warm crackly vinyl sounds. There are just enough familiar Christmas song sounds from the past infused into his new original to give “That Time Again” an instant classic feeling. The single signals the completion of an excellent year for Omar that included the release of Brighter The Days, two US tours, a Tiny Desk concert and an appearance on Later...With Jools Holland.

Watch: Donae'O: Nights Like This Feat Omar, Lemar & The House Gospel Choir

British singer Donae'O pops off with "Nights Like This," featuring fellow natives Omar, Lemar, and the House Gospel Choir. Omar and Donae'O recorded the feel-good single in 2022 and are just now sharing it with the world. The single is on Donae'O's Spectrum album released in August. The video and overall feeling of the single are summery and will keep your ears warm through the upcoming winter.

Omar Does Tiny Desk

Omar recently came to the United States to promote his ninth album, Brighter The Days, and he performed a Tiny Desk show. The King of UK Soul plucked four songs from his four-decade career, starting with "Can We Go Out" from his current album. The title track from The Man, "Little Boy," "This Is Not A Love Song," and the first career landmark single, "There's Nothing Like This," finished the setlist. Omar promises to uplift your soul with his current album that has guest appearances from Raheem DeVaughn, Eric Roberson, his brother Scratch Professor, Don-E, Ledisi, Jeru The Damaja, Honey Larochelle, Paul Weller, and more. The many challenges in the world now make an album titled Brighter The Days a necessity for getting through the times. The album is available in all formats.

Omar & Honey Larochelle Do Research

Omar and Honey Larochelle are a combined musical force on “Research.” The video is a fun fest with them hanging out on New York City rooftops and footage from Omar’s performance at Natasha Diggs’ Soul In The Horn series. “Research” is on Omar’s forthcoming Brighter The Days album. Omar’s singular sound is still intact with all of its soulful funkiness and bits of jazz. The UK neo-soul king is back, spreading his infectious feel-good vibes for 2025.
