

Red Bull Presents True Notes Event In Philadelphia

Red Bull is presenting a True Notes event with Okayplayer in Philadelphia. Chicago R&B singer and activist Jamila Woods is the headliner for the night. Singer-songwriter Mereba, singer and producer Amber Mark and DJ Jasmine Solano will perform at the show which takes place on December, 6th at Warehouse On Watts. The night is inspired by the Black Lily Music series created by Mercedes Martinez, Rich Nichols and Tracey Moore in 1999 as a weekly event. The series helped launch careers for Jill Scott, Floetry and Jaguar Wright.Â

True Notes is also a celebration of Okayplayer and its impact on the Philadelphia music scene and the world of music blogging. The website was founded in 1998 by Questlove and Angela "Stress" Nissel. The official anniversary for the site is February 23, 1999, which is the same day The Roots released their fourth album Things Fall Apart. Tickets for the event can be purchased from Red Bull.Â

Oddisee, Oshun And Tunji Ige Will Perform At Red Bull Sound Select In NYC

Brooklyn Vegan has curated a Red Bull Sound Select show in New York City with Oddisee, Oshun and Tunji Ige January 19th at Baby's All Right. Oddisee is still receiving recognition for his Good Fight album from 2015. R&B, hip-hop duo Oshun released their ASASE YAA mixtape last April and Philadelphia rapper Tunji Ige who became popular after the debut of his The Love Project mixtape last December. Doors open at 7PM and you must RSVP before the 19th to have a chance to buy a ticket. RSVP by clicking here.

Red Bull Goes Behind The Scenes Of The Peech Boys' Don't Make Me Wait

[youtube id="3mWfQ9NR9wE"]

Red Bull visits with Michael de Benedictus of The Peech Boys to hear the origins of their 1981 classic, "Don't Make Me Wait." The Peech Boys were the first act to come out of the Paradise Garage experience lead by Larry Levan. The song thrived in the clubs and on the charts even after the misguided Disco Demolition night two years earlier.