

Media Questions Of The Week

Will Robin Thicke and Pharrell Williams be successful with their appeal to have the “Blurred Lines” verdict, which found them guilty of copyright infringement for copying Marvin Gaye’s “Got To Give It Up,” overturned?

<https://twitter.com/kanyewest/status/772166483023687680>

Why did Kanye West’s casting call for Yeezy Season 4 ask for multiracial women only?

Will more professional athletes join Colin Kaepernick's protest of the American flag?

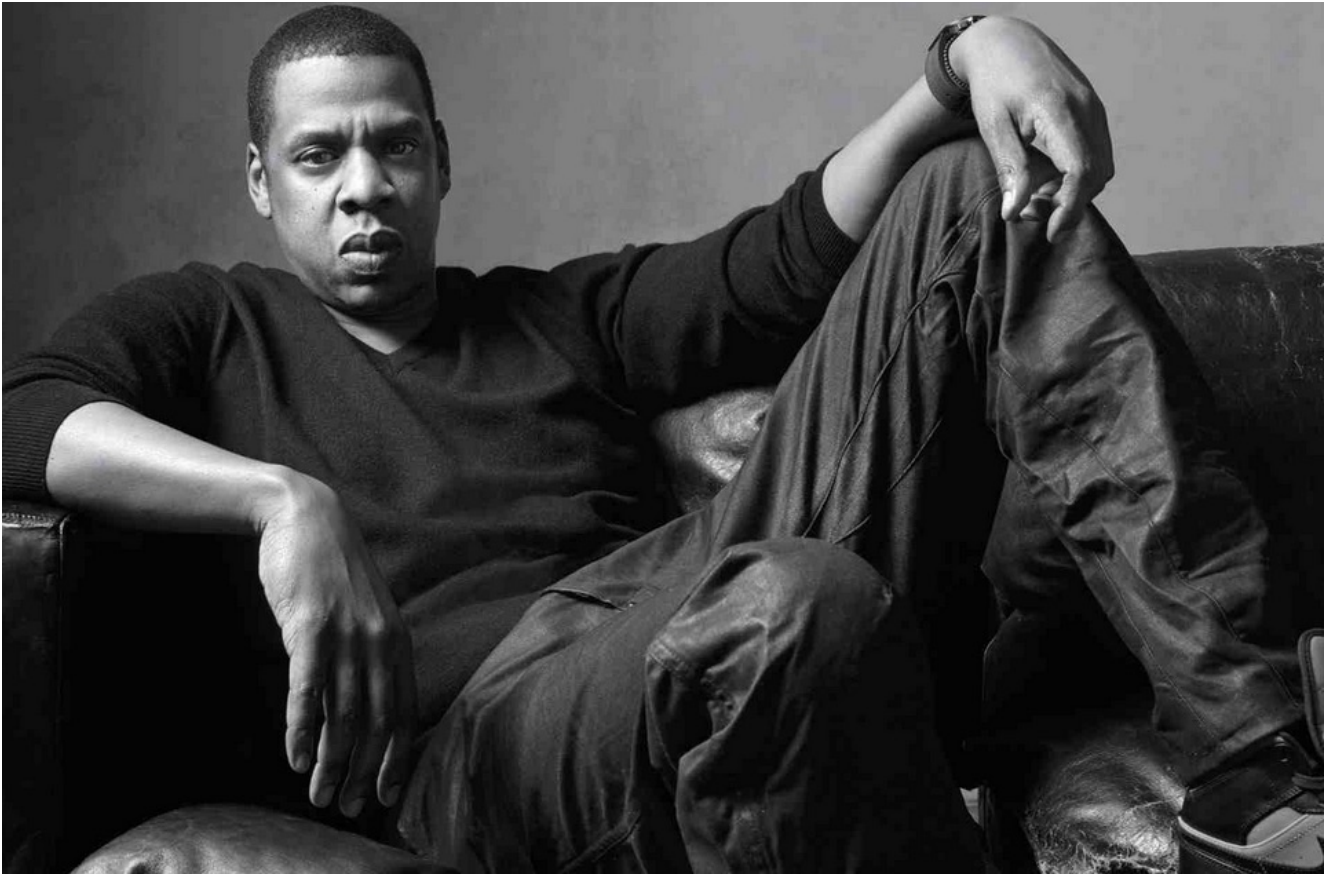

Media Questions Of The Week

How will the “Blurred Lines” verdict that found Pharrell and Robin Thicke guilty of plagiarizing Marvin Gaye’s “Got To Give It Up” affect the music business in the long run?

[youtube id="tibphZYy0Do"]

Did hacker group Anonymous really make a video to threaten to teach Kanye West a lesson in humility?

Will Jay-Z's Tidalhifi music streaming service change the music streaming business?

Media Questions Of The Week

Will Donald Glover stop using his Childish Gambino rap name?

Will Halle Berry achieve her dream of playing Angela Davis?

Will the judge rule in favor of Marvin Gaye's family in their countersuit against Robin Thicke, Pharrell Williams and T.I. regarding the alleged theft of Gaye's music used in Thicke's "Blurred Lines?"

Media Questions Of The Week

Didn't Beyoncé have the best celebrity Halloween costume as a Rhythm Nation-era Janet Jackson?

Does VH-1 receive the same amount of criticism as BET for shows like the Love & Hip-Hop franchise because it promotes low-brow Black culture?

Now that Robin Thicke and Pharrell have lost the first round of litigation in battle with Marvin Gaye's estate regarding plagiarism claims over the song "Blurred Lines" will they lose in the next court sessions over licensing as well?