

Lauryn Hill Announces A Diaspora Calling! Concert Series Tour In Association With Live Nation And Tidal

Lauryn Hill is taking the MLH Caravan: A Diaspora Calling! Concert Series on tour in association with Tidal and Live Nation. She presented the first concert at the Kings theater in Brooklyn. Ms. Hill says: “The MLH Caravan allows me to continue the theme of unity and celebration of the many facets of cultural and artistic beauty throughout the African diaspora while on tour this summer and fall. In these days of tension, tumult and transition, an exchange of this kind can yield direction, expression, understanding and empowerment as well as connection, self Love and appreciation that hopefully overflows into our respective communities.” Each show will have guest performance from various artists of the African diaspora.

Tidal members will have exclusive access to a pre-sale on August 4th at 10:00AM. Members can find details by logging into their Tidal account.

New Birth Of A Nation Poster

This is the latest poster from Nate Parker's The Birth Of A Nation movie. The image debuted on Tidal yesterday and people are responding to Parker as Nat Turner with a noose around his neck made of an American flag. The response to the film when it hits theaters on October 7th, will be interesting because of all the racial tension in the country right now regarding police brutality.

Tidal's Songs For Survival Playlist

Jay-Z continues to share his response to all the tension in the country regarding the murders of Philando Castile and Alton Sterling by the police and the five officers killed in Dallas by Micah Johnson. Today he added a playlist of songs reflective of the times and there is Stevie Wonder, Bob Marley and The Wailers, Gil-Scott-Heron and more. Listen to Jay-Z's Songs For Survival playlist here.
