

Throwback: Too $hort- Blow The Whistle

Too $hort's "Blow The Whistle" has become his signature song since it was released in 2006. Lil Jon produced the beat for the single that represents the hyphy movement in Too $hort's native Oakland. Over time "Blow The Whistle" has become synonymous with strip clubs and being a quintessential party starter. Blow The Whistle was also the title of Too $hort's sixteenth album. Jay-Z, DJ Khaled and Wiz Khalifa have all sampled "Blow The Whistle." Too $hort released his 20th and last album The Pimp Tape in 2018.Â

[youtube id="CBJtzEKetBM"]

Ice Cube: Ain't Got No Haters Feat. Too Short Official Video

[youtube id="nCkblLhs0-4"]Ice Cube releases video for "Ain't Got No Haters" featuring Too Short who makes an appearance. The two walk around a black and white room and show off their cash and jewelry while having a drink. The DJ Pooh-produced song is from Ice Cube's Everythangs Corrupt.Â Â

Miki Howard-Panther Feat. Too Short

[youtube id="_e7zkSsFmKw"]

Miki Howard likens the resilience of her spirit to that of a "Panther." The song is a collaboration with Too Short from her upcoming album, I Choose To Be Happy.

Media Questions Of The Week

[youtube]5MCyBHZkwJY[/youtube]

1. Have you heard the Robert Glasper Black Radio album yet?

[youtube]HcDWRLzSJJ0[/youtube]

2. Are hip-hop fans supposed to forgive Too Short's 30 years of willful ignorance that made him a millionaire because he said the record companies conspired against conscious rap?

[youtube]c00n-9uXWYU[/youtube]

3. Isn't it funny that Estelle says that R&B is taken more seriously in the United States than her UK homeland when American R&B artists feel the same way about the US?