Bay Area's Ankh Marketing Celebrates 7th Anniversary w/ Erykah Badu & Questlove Aug 12th & 13th

(San Francisco, California – July 27, 2011) During the second weekend in August, Bay Area's most renowned urban promotions and events production company Ankh Marketing will kick off their 7th year anniversary celebration in San Francisco with a series of exclusive events boasting a line up of A-list artists and a bevy of special guests. On Friday, August 12th, Ankh will present a special DJ set spun by Universal/Motown recording artist Erykah Badu – under her DJ moniker Lo Down Loretta Brown – at San Francisco's top live music venue Mezzanine. On Saturday, August 13th, Ankh continues the celebration with yet another DJ set by cultural critic/recording artist/drummer Questlove at Public Works located in San Francisco's Mission District.

"We're planning on having some pretty special guests. It's going to be a unique experience," says Ankh Marketing's co-founder Kamel Jacot-Bell. "Seven is a very significant number for various reasons. We wanted to celebrate our 7th year anniversary with artists that symbolize Ankh Marketing's mission and pull off some fun events simultaneously." Jacot-Bell notes that selecting the headliners for Ankh Marketing's anniversary weekend events was simply a matter of calling on old friends. "Erykah Badu and Questlove are two artists that strongly represent our brand within the music community," he says. "We've done events with Questlove ever since he started his DJ career. Erykah's done some of our biggest concerts in the Bay Area. The way she represents the ankh is parallel to that of our company."

Questlove and Kelly Rowland celebrate The Best of Soul Train DVD

(New York, NY) " Kelly Rowland and Questlove celebrate their love for Soul Train, the innovative, culturally influential and significant music show, by making promotional appearances to support the release of "The Best of Soul Train," a 3 DVD set hitting retail August 31 for the first time via Time Life.

Rowland, who received her first national television exposure on Soul Train as a member of the multi-platinum recording group Destiny's Child, appeared on The Today Show on Monday, August 30 along with Reuters Worldwide Newswire.

Questlove, music director for Late Night with Jimmy Fallon, and member of GRAMMY Award-winning Fallon house band, The Roots, is an avid Soul Train fan and connoisseur, with an extremely extensive Soul Train collection. Questlove will participate in a two-hour, nationwide satellite media tour on Tuesday, August 31.

Soul Train is the longest first run television series in syndication history (on air from 1970 – 2006) and widely recognized as a national launch pad for one-of-a-kind superstar performances, outrageous fashions, hip dances and the iconic Soul Train Dance Line. First set in Chicago, it launched on WCIU-TV with local radio and television personality Don Cornelius on August 17, 1970. Upon moving to Los Angeles, Soul Train skyrocketed nationally, offering a window into African American music and culture. Cornelius was responsible for a new era in African American expression, with many of his sayings entering the popular American lexicon including “A groove that will make you move real smooth,” and “Wishing you Love, Peace, and Soul!”

(Los Angeles, CA) – Time Life commemorates the 40th Anniversary of Soul Train with “The Best of Soul Train” 3-DVD boxed set hitting retail August 31 for the very first time, in celebration of the culturally significant American institution that became a national launch pad for showcasing the latest names in Soul music, outrageous fashion and hip dances – making Soul music a mainstream global genre. “The Best of Soul Train” presents an amazing and rare collection of performances from the Soul Train archives, many of which haven’t been seen in over 30 years, including exclusive performances from Soul Train’s most acclaimed era (1971 – 1979) by The Jackson Five, Marvin Gaye, The O’Jays, Smokey Robinson, Aretha Franklin, Stevie Wonder, Sly & The Family Stone and more. There are 50 performances covered in eight hours of classic Soul, from the longest first-run series in syndication history (on air from 1970 – 2006) along with more than three hours of bonus material. Viewers will re-live the original dance styles and scene-stealing fashions from the heart of the `70’s as well as favorite moments from the Soul Train Dance Line to the beloved Soul Train Scramble Board. Also included are on-air interviews with the artists, classic Soul Train dancers, and some vintage commercials for Ultra Sheen and Afro Sheen products. This special collection features the best moments from several original Soul Train episodes totaling 50 songs and performances, with more than three hours of bonus material including exclusive interviews with Don Cornelius, Smokey Robinson, Jody Watley and others.” Time Life is proud to bring back one of the most enduring and culturally relevant shows in television history with “The Best of Soul Train” says Michael Mitchell, Time Life VP, Marketing/Strategic Partnerships. “Soul Train was `must see’ television in black households across America in the 70’s and it also had strong crossover appeal. Soul Train fans have been waiting for years to re-live this exciting time!”

Soul Train founder, Don Cornelius says, “We’re extremely proud of Soul Train's innovative history and legacy, and we look forward to sharing this with multiple generations to come. "The Best of Soul Train" offers a rare, insiders view of the golden era of Soul, marking a classic time and place which can never be duplicated. As always – Love, Peace and Soul!"

Soul Train Holdings CEO, Kenard Gibbs comments: " We are thrilled to partner with Time Life to make this unparalleled collection of soul music performances available for the first time on DVD. Don Cornelius' vision and devotion to soul music will forever inspire and captivate music lovers for many generations. "We wanted to share this music filled collection of memorable performances and message of LOVE, Peace and Soul with the world."
